

For the 2020-21 school year, our academic calendar has been reimagined to support efforts to minimize the risk posed by COVID-19 and provide as much continuity as possible for students. The fall semester calendar is below. Our spring semester calendar will be published by November 15, 2020.

Note that some vacations have been lengthened and others have been shortened. For long weekends and religious holidays, students should expect to have classes. As always, we support students in their religious observances and encourage students who need to be released from classes for that reason to contact their division principal.
