2. Information Collected Automatically

In addition, information about your computer hardware and software is automatically collected by us when you use the Site. This information may include: your IP address, browser type, domain names, access times, geographic location, referring website addresses and other technical information such as protocol status and sub-status, bytes sent and received, and server information. We may also collect information about how you interact with the Site. This information is used by us for purposes of providing services and information to you and for purposes of operating and improving the Site, for technical troubleshooting, to maintain quality of the Site and to provide general statistics regarding use of the Site.

We may combine the information we collect from you with information that we receive about you from other sources, such as public databases, providers of demographic information, social media platforms, and other third parties.

Cookies and Other Tracking Technologies

We, as well as third parties that provide content, advertising, or other functionality on our Services, may use cookies, pixel tags, and other technologies ("Technologies") to automatically collect information through your use of the Site. The data collection and processing activities in this section apply to users of the Site.

- Cookies. A cookie is a small file containing a string of characters that is sent to your computer when you visit our Site. When you visit the Site, the cookie allows that Site to recognize your browser or device. Cookies may store unique identifiers, user preferences and other information about you. To find out more about cookies, including how to manage and delete cookies, visit www.allaboutcookies.org.

- Pixel Tags/Web Beacons. A pixel tag (also known as a web beacon) is a piece of code embedded in our Services that collects information about engagement on our Services. The use of a pixel tag allows us to record, for example, that a user has visited a particular web page or clicked on a particular advertisement. We may also include web beacons in e-mails to understand whether messages have been opened, acted on, or forwarded.

Our uses of these Technologies fall into the following general categories:

- Operationally Necessary. This includes Technologies that allow you access to our Site and tools that are required to identify irregular website behavior, prevent fraudulent activity, improve security, or allow you to make use of our functionality;

- Performance-Related. We may use Technologies to assess the performance of our Site, including as part of our analytic practices to help us understand how individuals use our Site (see Analytics below);

- Functionality-Related. We may use Technologies that allow us to offer you enhanced functionality when accessing or using our Site. This may include identifying you when you visit our Site or keeping track of your specified preferences, interests, or past items viewed. For example, we use Google Analytics to help analyze how you use the Site. Google Analytics uses cookies to collect standard Internet log information and visitor behavior information in an anonymous form. The information generated by the cookie about your use of the Site (including IP address) is transmitted to our data collection tool service providers. This information is then used by us to evaluate your use of the Site and to compile statistical reports on website activity for Westtown. If you would like to opt-out from the use of your information by Google analytics, you may use Google’s analytics opt-out browser add-on designed for this purpose.

- Advertising- or Targeting-Related. We may use first party or third-party Technologies to deliver content, including ads relevant to your interests, on our Site or on third-party digital properties. Some of the advertising Technologies we use include Meta Pixel and Hubspot Pixel.
